Have you got a relative in a care home or family member who can't leave their house during lockdown who loves music?

Today BBC are launching a new series of live, digital concerts in partnership with Age Cymru called 'From Home to Homes'. Running every other Tuesday at 11am from Tuesday 16th June, and lasting approximately 30 minutes, these concerts will feature BBC NOW musicians performing well known and much-loved music that everyone will enjoy from their home to yours.

These joyful concerts are a chance to connect with our orchestra players and listen to live performances that will lift the spirits, so please share this post with anyone you think might enjoy these concerts!
